

MY FAVOURITE VIKING WENT ON HIS VOYAGE...

I first met him in Groningen when he addressed me with some juicy words in my own native language he had learned during his service in Yugoslavia. I was a bit scared when he approached me but later very impressed how well he knew the people and the country. Soon we fell in love and I was his princess. He spoiled me with compliments, with sport socks and t-shirts, with akvavit and goat cheese. When the night came, he was in action and no matter how down or worried I was, his spirit and vividness, his crazy ideas and fearless acts on the street or in a bar changed my mood and of everyone around him.

Asbjorn was a great man, kind-hearted and charming in his own way. I will miss him so much. There will always be an empty space in ENAS that no one can fill in....
